FARM BUREAU MEMBERS WANT BIGGER COUNTY FAIR

Will Make Every Possible Effort to Boost the Project to the Limit of Their Efforts.

Earl W. Crouse, of Bradford, Rex Turner of Ceres, Norman Sawyer of Wrights, E. W. Jones and Ed. McKean of Smethport and H. R. Hilton, of Port Allegany met at the local headquarters of the Farm Bureau on Monday afternoon in company with numerous other persons who are interested particularly in the future of the McKean County Fair, which it is believed can be made a much stronger proposition than it ever has been in the past.

As a means of increasing the interest in the fair and particularly in the agricultural features of it it is suggested that one of the very best boosters would be to at least double the amounts of the premiums offered for the prize winning exhibits.

The object of the men now is to make the next county fair truly big enough to properly represent the wonderful agricultural products the county produces and make them much better known to the outside world.

Smthport and Bradford High Schools, last year class B and class A, champions respectively, were winners again in the annual McKean County Interscholastics held in Smethport Saturday, May 19. JOHNSONBURG MAN SHOT AT STORE DIED IN HOSPITAL

Murderer Seemed to Have Been a Passenger on Train that Just Arrived at Station.

Ridgway, May 17.—Frank Galeazzo, aged about 50 years, was shot three times by an unknown assailant at 10 o'clock last night, while sitting on the porch of his store directly across the railroad tracks from the Pennsylvania station at Johnsonburg. Galeazzo is in the hospital here with two serious wounds. His chances for recovery hinges on the possibility that infection does not set in. One bullet grazed his left hand, another shattered his left upper arm and the third entered the abdomen and came out the back. The bowel was penetrated in two places and the bullet also passed through the mesentery.

In so far as the authorities have been able to learn, the only eye witness to the shooting was Frank Torch, a friend and neighbor of Galleazo. Torch was held in jail here over night and released this morning after he had given testimony to District Attorney McFarlin.

Torch and Galleazzo were sitting in front of the latter's store on Railroad street, Galleazzo with his back to the front wall of the store building and Torch with his back to the fence which runs along the railroad tracks. Just as train 580 pulled into the station, a man wearing a light raincoat and a hat of similar color came along the areaway, walking between Galleazzo and Torch, placed his left hand against the wall of the building and fired three shots from the weapon carried in his right hand. He then turned and ran back in the direction from which he had come.

Mr. Galleazo died at the Elk county hospital at Ridgway at 4:30 o'clock Monday morning.

TEMPLE CLUB DANCE GREAT SUCCESS.

The dance given Tuesday evening by the Temple Club in their new building on West Main street, was a very successful affair. About 70 or more couples were present, Bradford, Mt. Jewett and Kane all being represented. Music was furnished by Husted andSorrentino's orchestra of radford, and a delicious lunch was served by Mrs. John Lindholme.

TWO MEN BURNED SATURDAY AT REFINERY AT FARMERS VALLEY

Ray Newman of Northumberland Avenue, this place, and Russell Rowley of Eldred, both employed as blacksmiths at the Farmers Valley Refinery were quite badly burned Saturday at 10:00 a. m. by an explosion of naptha.

Workmen had been putting in a new line of pipe, and by accident one connection had been left open. Newman and Royley had been operating a forge in the building, but had moved it outside near an open window. When the naptha was was turned on, and the test of the line made, the fumes came through the faulty connection, and them through the open window to the forge outside. An explosion instantly occurred in which both men received burns on the hands, neck, face and forearms.

They were quickly brought to Dr. Robert Hamilton's office, and are improving rapidly at present.

ANOTHER BRADFORD MAN CAUGHT WITH LIQUOR IN HIS CAR

Arthur G. Rankin, a Ra... Placed Under Arrest ... A Full Jury.

Bradford, May 17.—Arthur G. Rankin of Bradford, a railroad man, was placed under arrest yesterday morning almost under the very nose of the police station. Rankin, accompanied by a Bradford man, drove his Studebaker touring car up Kennedy street to Boylston, and then turned west on Boylston. He made the turn correctly but after that he made one great big error for he drove the car, it is said, directly across the street into the side of the police patrol wagon, which was parked in its usual place alongside the curb.

The patrol wagon, which had just been repainted and fixed up in other ways for the summer season, was forced by the impact of the car against the curb. The rear wheel, which was against the curbing, was smashed, while the car received other minor damages. The front part of the anklin car was stove in and one headlight and a fender smashed.

The collision made a great racket and Patrolmen Blake and Luke, who were in the station, rushed out front to see what the trouble might be, and placed Rankin under arrest.

Witnesses informed the police that they saw the occupants of the Rankin car carrying a jug from their machine, following the smashup, across the street and place it against the brick building there. Later the police confiscated the jug, and found that it contained some liquor.

It is probable that a charge of transporting liquor will be lodged against him by the county authorities.

KUSHEQUA LADY IN ACCIDENT.

Knocked Down by Auto Saturday Evening—Receives Scalp Wounds and Bruises.

Miss Margaret Strang of Kushequa, met with an accident on Main street, Saturday evening about 7:30 o'clock, when she was knocked down by a car owned and driven by Rudolph Nelson of West End, passed over her. She had accompanied some friends up from Kushequa in their car to do some shopping, and stepped from the car into the street and was unable to avoid the oncoming car.

Miss Strang was immediately picked up and taken to the office of Dr. H. M. Cleveland, who found she had received a bad scalp wound and was considerably bruised about the body. Her clothing was badly cut and torn. After discovering that there were no bones broken she was given proper care and taken to her home. She is reported as able to be about today.—Mt. Jewett Echo.

HOODLUMS PULL UP FLOWERS ON E. MAIN STREET.

Chief Solt Offers Reward of $25 for Information that Will Lead to Conviction of Culprits.

Chief of Police Solt offers a reward of $25 for information which will lead to the conviction of a gang of hoodlums who destroyed property all the way from Main street to East Bradford, on East Main street Saturday night. The miscreants destroyed flower beds, tearing the contents up by the roots, smashed flower pots that contained long cared for plants, tore up ping fences that surrounded the lawns and performed other atrocious acts, for which they should be severely punished.

The residents along East Main and the police are thoroughly aroused over the actions of the hoodlums and every effort will be made to bring them to justice.—Bradford Record.

MAN COMES HERE; THEN DISAPPEARS.

C. M. Clark Who Came Here From Ohio to Transact Business, Cannot be Located.

C. M. Clark, a well known and highly respected resident of Bremen O., who after convalescing from a serious accident, came to radford to look into a business proposition about six weeks ago, has disappeared and strenuous efforts are being made by the Bremen and Bradford police and the Masons to locate the man, who it is feared by Bremen authorities, may have met with foul play or may have become demented and got lost.

Mayor H. E. Young of Bremen wrote to the major of this city to ask th ecity authorities to join in he search for Clark, and Mayor DeGolier at once turned the letter over to chief Solt who has at once started to work on the case.

Mayor Young says that Clark was injured about the head and spine three months ago and that while he was convalescing, he had several letters from Mel Harding of Bradford, asking him to enter into a partnership in drilling oil wells, Harding's mother haying a small production here. Clark sold his property in Bremen and left home six weeks ago for Bradford, bringing with him $2,000, $1,800 of which, Mayor Young says, he placed in the Commercial Bank of Bradford. Young states that Harding did not enter into partnership with Clark, but wanted to sell him his mother's property. Just about that time Clark collapsed in this city and became a patient at Esty's hospital and bath house, where he remained for three weeks. Three weeks ago he was discharged, and has not been heard of since.—Star, May 21.

MEN YOU MAY MARRY

By E. R. PEYSER

Has a man like this proposed to you?

Symptoms: Awfully precise, just tall enough for the army, no more. Did a few weeks military training just before armistice was signed and can't forget it. Turns a corner on his heel. Always talks of how he did this and that in the army, goes to bed on schedule, calls it taps, arises on schedule, calls it reveille, eats on schedule, calls it mess. On schedule on 4th of July he unfurls his little flag, on schedule he calls on you and stays "just so long." He walks a certain way to work and a certain way when he returns.

IN FACT
He "does time" daily.

Prescription for bride to be: Essence of TNT in his tea to make him do something not on the time table.

A FUND FOR WAR GRAVES

As Decoration Day approaches, attention is drawn to the efforts of members of the American Legion to eliminate the annual asking for funds to pay for decorating the 25,000 American soldiers graves in France. The Legion this year is trying to raise $10,000 to endow this annual tribute to the dead of the World War.

The sum now sought is to take care only of those graves in France. There should be a similar fund established for the decoration of war graves in this country.

Paying such respect to the men and women who gave their lives for their country is one of the special interests of their fellow-soldiers as long as the latter live. It should be even more a special interest of the civilians, whose share in the protection of the nation lay in the less dangerous path of action far from the battlefields.—Era.

BOYS WEEK.

Boys' Week, May 18-25, should not be passed by as just another of those innumerable special weeks. If the full value of constructive work among the nation's boys could be appreciated, this would be one of the most genuine useful weeks of the year.

Today, in any city, there are organizations devoting time and effort to boy's welfare work, furnishing them wholesome recreational opportunities, offering courses of study to those who have had to leave school and go to work, preventing others from committing crimes and helping them to find character-building activities, which work unobstructively while the boys have a good time.

The boy as a problem to the community is no more important than the boy's own problems. The wise parent or boy's leader helps to solve these, and through them helps the boys find their place in community life.

Boy's Week simply points out once more the time and money and effort spent on these potential citizens are well invested.—Era.

In our columns this week appears the announcement of C. Roy Engstrom of Kane, Pa., for the office of Register of wills and clerk of the Orphans court of McKean County, subject to the Republican primaries next September.

Mr. Engstrom has held a position in the commissioner's office for the past three years, and has become well known to the taxpayers for his courtesy and efficiency.

He is an ex-service man, who enlisted in the Ordnance Department on December 15, 1917, and was 18 One months in the service of his country. One year of this term was spent in France, six months on the Meuse steeor with the Rainbow Division. He wa shonorably discharged on May 15, 1919. He is a prominent member of the Hucktailu Post, American Legion of Smethport, and an active supporter of Legion affairs throughout the country. He is a skillful athlete well known in basketball circles and is always a prominent contender in Legion Field Day sports. A clean-cut young citizen, possessing energy and integrity, he enters the race with the hearty support of many friends. work in the registers office.

He is a capable young man who is in every way fitted to carry on the work in the registers offir.

TRAGEDY OF BONAR LAW AFFECTS GREAT BRITAIN PARALLEL TO GEN. GRANT

London, May 20.—(By the A. P.)—The tragedy of Bonar Law has affected Great Britain deeply. The news of his resignation will not be known to the country until the people read it in the morning papers; it will be no surprise, but few expected it so soon. From both political and personal standpoints it will be received with regret; from the political standpoint almost with consternation. The British newspapers have considerately refrained from hinting at the nature of Mr. Bonar Law's illness, but from the well known specialists called in consultation it is universally inferred to be a parallel to the last days of President Grant.—Bradford Era, May 21.

ELISHA K. KANE APPROVES OF WOMAN FOR CO. TREAS.

The McKean County Prohibition Executive Committee has been called to meet at the office of Dr. A. Grace White in Bradford, Saturday May 26th. The members of the committee are Dr. A. Grace White, Jury Commissioner Iva W. Sullivan, Mrs. L. L. Mitchell, Paul P. Lyon and Elisha K. Kane.

In his call for the meeting Chairman Kane says; "It seems to be the spirit of the Prohibition party, as announced in its platform for the last 40 years, to give equal rights to men and women. In making selections for public offices, however, it seems to your chairman that offices requiring exposure to the elements and to the rougher forms of humanity, were particularly suitable for men; while, to give women their fair share, strictly clerical offices should be allowed to women. The office of County Treasurer, although an important office in regard to salary, is strictly clerical, and therefore, entirely suited to a woman. The efficiency shown by Mrs. McCann in assisting her husband, the present county treasurer, is proof that a woman could fill that office to excellent advantage.

The Prohibition party has more than once demonstrated its willingness to support on its ticket friends of the cause who still belong to other parties.

McDOWELL-METZGAR.

Katherine McDowell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. McDowell of Crosby, and Earl Metzgar, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Metzgar of this place were married Saturday, May 19th at Olean, N. Y., by Rev. Frank Houser, pastor of the Baptist church of that place.

Miss McDowell is a popular young lady who is well known here. Mr. Metzgar is an industrious young man with many friends. He is employed as a tool dresser.

The young couple will live at Bordell.

The Miner extends its hearty congratulations.

WILLA CATHER AGAIN HONORED.

In the New York Times Book Review for May 13th, Percy A. Hutchinson reviews April Twilights by Willa Cather in the following manner. "As it happens, three volumes of lyric poetry of high excellence have followed so close on the hills of Dr. Strachaus study that they may well be reviewed in the light of his discussion. One volume is by an American, "April Twilights" from the pen of the novelist, Willa Cather, the other collections are from England. "Prophet and Fool" by Louis Golding; "The Gothic Rose" by Wilfrid Rowland Childe."

The quest of beauty is the predominating feature of Miss Cather's strangely haunting verses, several of which were published some years ago, but have long been out of print. And in her passionate desire to ensnare and fixate beauty, whether of thought or emotion or surroundings, there is evidence the hostage wistfulness which Dr. Strachan finds so poignant a quality of modern poetry."

On the other hand, one can be a success in this life and still not know what to do when your partner in a bridge game doubles a one-no-trump bid.

PROTECT THE GAME.
ANIMALS AND BIRDS DURING MATING SEASON

A movement is under way to protect the game of this section by enlisting the aid of sportsmen in shooting game destroying animals and birds before they have an opportunity to cause destruction during the nesting and mating season. Plans are being made to have every sportsman interested in game protection, spend some time ridding woods, field and marsh of predatory hawks, owls and crows, weasels and others who annually kill ten times as much game as all gunners combined. It has been stated that the red squirrel alone will kill 200 birds a season, while the great horned owl destroys annually covey after covey of quail. Special efforts are being made to enlist the aid of game lovers against the crow who is destroying individually more birds of all kinds, more birds' eggs and young poultry than any other bird that ever flapped a wing.

All game destroying animals and birds are classed by sportsmen and game lovers as vermin, and it is expected that vermin hunting clubs can be organized here and that members of established gun clubs will join in the movement by going into the woods and shooting as many game destroyers as they can find.

MAN CONVICTED OF PANDERING IS FREED.

Bail bonds for Frank Fedele of No. 27 East Main street Bradford have been released according to instructions received from the Elk county authorities following a decision handed down by the Superior Court recently reversing a decision of the Elk county court in refusing Feddele a new trial following his conviction sometime ago of pandering. The higher court held that there was not sufficient evidence at the trial to justify submitting the case to the jury and that conviction was not tenable with the evidence submitted by the prosecution.—Era.

BOY INJURED WHEN HIT BY AUTOMOBILE.

Slight injuries were suffered by Arthur Chiodo, five year old son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Chiodo of No. 11 Mill street, Saturday noon when he ran into the path of a moving automobile while crossing the street in front of the parents' home. The machine was being driven by Harmon Hastings of East Bradford. The boy was running across the street and stepped in front of the machine too quickly to avoid the accident by application of the brakes. He was knocked to the ground when hit by a front wheel sustaining an injury to the head. He was attended by Dr. Wilson.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS

If a woman wears anything that is comfortable she is usually ashamed of it.

A woman first sheds a few tears—and then proceeds to open the telegram with a hairpin.

Young man, beware of the peach who is the apple of your eye. She may prove to be a lemon.

Cheer up! All the good people don't die young; lots of them live to a ripe old age and die poor.

After arguing with a man for half an hour a woman invariably says: "Now why can't you be sensible?"

Many a man would be happy if he could only get a divorce from his mother-in-law without severing his other domestic ties.

There is a tradition to the effect that once upon a time a woman in a crowded car got up and offered her seat to a man with a baby in his arms.

SOME FOLKS THINK

That marigold is the official flower of chorus girls.

That an Indian club is a society of the reds.

That Pan was the god of the kitchen utensils.

That an ash tree grows in a garbage lot.

That everything written on a circus poster is true.

That a shock absorber is something worn by old maids.

That night latch keys are made for burglars.

That a day bed is used only by night watchmen.

That sheet music comes from the line.—Chicago American.

NEW EXTENSION OF BANKING INTERESTS U. S. GOVERNMENT.

In the January issue of the Federal Reserve Bulletin published at Washington, D. C. are the results of a study made by the Division of Analysis and Research.

The functions of a finance company are almost identical with that of a commercial bank. It's credit work is along the same line and is carried out thru the same sources. No pyramiding of loans is possible because the companies do not accept deposits and so they actually reduce their cash positions when extending loans.

The field entered by such finance companies is composed of manufacturers, wholesalers, retailers, etc. Their needs in this field is recognized as the larger banking institutions are more and more devoting their time and money to foreign business.

Thru finance companies a greater distribution is made possible for the more modest manufacturer. His accounts, notes of acceptance are sold and discounted before maturity which allow him to turn his stock more often in a year, and obtain additional use of his capital.

From a modest beginning in 1900 this phase of banking has grown and prospered until last year there were 125 Finance Companies doing a volume of business which totals $1,200,000,000.

MOVING THE NATION'S COMMERCE
ENEMIES of the railroads have asserted that they are decrepit, broken down and unable to function adequately. Nothing could be more untrue.
The railroads of the United States constitute an unrivaled monument to American genius. They are incomparably the finest, the best equipped and most efficiently operated in the world. They are successfully moving today the greatest volume of traffic in their history.
But the need for greatly enlarged transportation facilities to care for the constantly expanding commerce of the nation is urgent and immediate. American railroads recognize that need and have organized to meet it.
On the part of the Pennsylvania Railroad System it involves the expenditure in 1923 of approximately $100,000,000 for new facilities—improvements and additions—including the sum of $52,000,000 for new engines and cars alone.
This vast expenditure was decided upon in the face of the present high cost of material and operation because the Pennsylvania Railroad System—in performing a national service is confident of the co-operation and support of the American people.

"ID, JOUV, MOUSH, YANG CHUSH, JUM"

No, it isn't a neophyte chanting the ritual of his fraternity, even if the little room where he sits is as quiet as some Greek-letter "tomb." The man who hears this jargon all day long is one of a carefully picked group of investigators, and his audience of one is listening intently in another sound-proof cell a few feet away to catch every syllable that is spoken. Between these two engineers is a telephone line whose talking qualities can be varied and their effect on intelligibility of speech noted.

By adjusting the apparatus in the telephone line, it is possible to cut off all the bass notes of the voice, or all the low notes, or to leave in only a limited range of notes. In this way engineers in the Bell Telephone Laboratories of the Western Electric Company have learned just what tones are essential for intelligible speech, so that they can design telephone apparatus to give better transmission at a lower cost.

The SANDMAN STORY

HE WON A PRINCESS

ONCE upon a time there was a princess so beautiful that dozens of suitors came to her father's court to seek her hand. The king was rich and powerful, but he loved his daughter so much that he let her have her own way in everything.

Jem was an orphan lad who cleaned the pots and pans in the kitchen. His post was an humble one, but Jem was strong, brave and determined to make himself something in the world.

That evening the palace was full of music, light and gaily dressed lords and ladies. All the princes who came courting wore gorgeous suits, and so many were there that their horses stood four deep in the stables.

Behind a big palm Jem hid himself and looked in wonder at the scene of magnificence. As midnight sounded

there was a blast heard from without, a noise as of tramping feet grew loud, the doors of the big ballroom flew apart and there on the threshold stood a great brown dwarf. His eyes were green, his face wrinkled, and his long, black hair hung in curls around his huge head.

"I have come for my bride!" he shouted in a loud voice. "I am the king of the Thousand Isles and no human dare brave my power. Let the princess come with me and make no resistance, lest I destroy this whole castle at once with my men."

The king was shaking with rage.

"Arrest and cast into prison that impudent clown," he cried to the guards.

"Put out the lights," screamed the dwarf. "Seize the princess and bear her off to my car."

At the foot of the marble stairs waited a golden car drawn by four winged horses and into this the dwarf stepped.

Not a soul had moved to stop him, for all were overcome by the suddenness of the attack and blinded by the darkness. Yet one there was who kept his senses, and that was Jem, for as the dwarf bore the princess by him, the lad followed closely behind, and hid himself behind the high seat which the others occupied.

In another instant the horses were cleaving the sky with their wings and leaving behind the castle, from which they could hear a great tumult and shouting arise.

The princes were running about madly seeking the one who had stolen the princess, and the king sat as if turned to stone. The castle was searched high and low, but not a trace of the princess could be found. Far away, a mere speck in the midnight sky, the dwarf was urging his horses to their home in the crest of the great Black mountain, where no one could scale the walls to rescue any prisoner.

Jem held on silently. The rush of air made his head swim, but he wrapped his arms and legs around the seat posts, and was carried safely along with the princess. About dawn the horses stopped on a rock and the dwarf took the princess into a stone chamber, which stood a thousand feet above the valley below.

"You are my captive," said the dwarf as he placed the frightened girl within the room. "When you consent to be my bride you shall be freed."

Then he went out, closing the door and locking it fast behind him—but he did not notice that in a dark closet in the hall nearby Jem had secreted himself so as to be able to aid the princess. But what could he do—here, hundreds of miles away from home and the princess secured within huge stone walls?

While the dwarf lay sleeping Jem went outside beneath the window of the princess and saw there a huge hammock swinging from the trees. He called softly to her to leap out. She stood a moment on the window, then sprang down. The soft, firm folds of silk held and she rolled to the ground unharmed. Quickly Jem ran to the stable and harnessed the winged horses to the gilded car. The princess leaped in and Jem took his place beside her.

By dawn the car alighted in the courtyard of the princess' home. And the next night there was a wedding in which Jem was the groom and the princess the happy bride.

REPORT OF LOST BOYS CREATE EXCITEMENT IN MT. JEWETT MONDAY.

Mt. Jewett, May 22. Much excitement prevailed in town last evening when it was learned that Evan Millard, 5 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Webster Millard and Harold Cornell, the three year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Cornell had been lost. When last seen the youngsters were at the home of Ed. Besucker to see some dogs. From there they wandered toward Campbelltown and were later brought nearly into town by some men, but the children became confused and made a wrong turn in the road, following the Marvin Creek road toward Hazelhurst.

About 7 o'clock the tannery fire signal was sounder calling out volunteers and searching parties were formed. They went in all directions for several miles. About 8 o'clock the boys were seen headed for Hazelhurst under the impression they would soon be home. They were brought to their home on Anderson street none the worse for their adventure except that they were cold hungry and tired.

The parents of both children are very grateful to all who so quickly and willingly formed parties to hunt for them.

Sheep's Important Place in World.

One man alone could not look after a whole flock, so the first shepherd called in others, who lived in scattered huts or in caves, far apart, to assist him, offering in return a share of the wool and the meat that were now so easy to obtain. And so at the edge of the pastures the first villages grew up. Thanks, largely to sheep, human society came into being, and with it came laws and customs for the benefit of the little community.

The next tremendous step was the discovery of how to spin wool into yarn and weave yarn into cloth, which paved the way for manufactures and commerce.

NO SUIT AGAINST SAGER JAR COMPANY.

The Star-Record has received a communication from a representative of the Sager Jar company, complaining of certain allegations published in an article taken from a county exchange in regard to suits being instituted against the Sager Jar company. He said that no proceedings have been instituted against the company, and adds that it is the intention of the Sager Jar company to complete the plant at Betula before the end of the present year. That the property purchased by the company at Betula has been paid for in full and that the company is there to stay, and while a re-organization of the financial affairs of the company is in progress at the present time, the interests of the share holders are being protected from every standpoint, and that when the reorganization is completed, every share holders pro rata interest will not be diminished in any particular whatsoever, neither in amount nor value. —Star, May 19.

MOTHER BEAR AND TWO CUBS PUT ON SHOW.

Hundreds of Motorists Treated To Strange Sight.

Many motorists from Kane and surrounding country were treated to an unique sight yesterday on the Seven Mile road, which leads from the Highland road to Wilcox, through a heavily wooded section of the country. A mother bear and two cubs were the attraction and they entertained a large crowd during the afternoon until they were captured.

The cubs were small ones and had climbed a large cherry tree and then apparently were unable to descend. The mother bear stuck around the tree despite the crowd and made every effort to coax the little ones out of the tree without success. She would climb the tree and try to make the cubs follow her down. The old bear would keep the most during onlookers at a distance as when they approached too closely she would make for them snarling and showing her teeth in a manner that disconcerted the boldest of the spectators. When she had driven the curious ones to a safe distance, she would return to the tree and resume her efforts to make the cubs descend.

All three animals were in fine condition and provided an afternoon of keen enjoyment for a large number of motorists, whose number was constantly increasing as news of the strange performance was circulated.

About 4 o'clock in the afternoon Sam Bonninker and Glen Adams managed to get the old bear away from the tree by tantalizing her and captured the cubs which will be turned over to Game Protector Carl Benson of Mt. Jewett, who will probably try to restore them to the mother bear.—Kane Republican.

TRAVELERS CLUB HAS LAST MEETING; PLANT TWO MEMORIAL TREES.

The final meeting of the Smethport Travelers Club was held at the club rooms Saturday afternoon. The committee in charge for the day was Mrs. J. C. Backus, Mrs. H. G. German, Mrs. E. W. Worley and Mrs John B. Eastman. The sextet sang Joyce Kilmer's poem, "A Tree", set to beautiful music. Mrs. Van Dusen read several poems expressive of spring and verdant nature, and Mrs. Cather sang "Welcome to Spring" and "An Old Fashioned Garden."

Mrs. J. C. Backus arranged the planting of two native evergreen trees, the gift of Mrs. John B. Eastman, in memory of the deceased club members. Each club member present putting a spadeful of earth upon the tree.

The business of the club was completed and an adjournment was taken until next October. Tea was served the committee acting as hostess being assisted by Mrs. R. E. Burdick and Mrs. L. K. Howarth. All joined in the singing of "Pennsylvania." There was a large attendance and the club room was very prettily decorated with apple blossoms and violets.
